Adoption

Children are a Blessing

After my husband and I divorced, I was convinced that adoption was out of the question. Seeing my son Kiran grow up all alone became increasingly painful. I decided to look into the option of adopting a second child and was excited that the Dallas Hebrew Free Loan Association (DHFLA) offered an interest free adoption loan. That was a huge help to me!

I signed up with an adoption lawyer, applied for the loan and was interviewed by the DHFLA team. I was very happy to learn that they approved my loan! Lovely daughter Nanda was born May 12, 2009 and placed with me three days later.

I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to the DHFLA for making my adoption possible. I cannot thank you enough for everything! You were always available for me, working with me through the unpredictable process of domestic adoption, making sure all happened in time. — Jasmin Oz

Healthy and Active

After four years of numerous back surgeries and the near loss of feeling from my waist down, I was accepted to be the first person outside of Europe to go to Berlin, Germany and receive spine surgery that isn't available anywhere else.

Insurance promised to pay for the surgery (minus a large deductible), but I had to come up with enough money to cover the surgery, buy airline tickets and cover travel expenses for my daughter, husband and myself. DHFLA approved a loan to help cover these expenses.

Because of the help Dallas Hebrew Free Loan gave me, I have not lost any feeling in my legs, I have no pain, and I get around very well. I am even still canoeing and exercising. Thanks DHFLA, for helping me to have so many blessings to count! — Libbi Stovall

Lighter Burden

Dallas Hebrew Free Loan was there for me when I had no other resources. Going through my divorce and keeping my sons in college all on my own was certainly a challenge. Without assistance I would not have been able to put a down payment on a new car or help my children with their tuition. Dallas Hebrew Free Loan made the application process very easy and welcoming during a very stressful and difficult time. Without them none of this would have been possible. — Mindy Grossman

President's Letter

A measure of every great community can be viewed by looking at how it helps those in need. Our philosophy of providing interest-free loans, when there is nowhere else to go, offers a mature respect for the borrower and the surrounding community. Our clients are hardworking people. They honor the commitment they make when taking out a loan and take great pride in paying them back. Every repaid dollar goes right out to help someone else.

Dallas Hebrew Free Loan is proud to be in our 76th year and proud to serve the Dallas and surrounding Jewish communities. Since our start in 1935 we have helped 506 families with interest free loans. Since 2002 we have helped 98 students attend college and/or graduate school. This summer we helped our first family with the Jewish Youth Experience loan, and their child is now able to attend a youth leadership program.

This year we want to increase our visibility throughout the Dallas area. We want to make sure every Jewish person in the community who needs a helping hand knows about Dallas Hebrew Free Loan. Look for more about DHFLA in our newsletters, on Facebook, on LinkedIn, and on Twitter.

You may know people in the community facing home foreclosures, unemployment, medical bills, growing tuition charges, and other financial challenges. Let them know the DHFLA is here to help.

With your continued support Dallas Hebrew Free Loan will be there to help with a hand up and not a handout.

— Donald Gross

Kudos

Taylor Knight was granted a higher education loan in the fall of 2008. This summer, she is doing an internship with the world renowned Cirque de Soleil for the show "KA" in Las Vegas, Nevada. Taylor is studying technical theater, lighting and design at Oklahoma City University and will graduate in 2012.

Taylor is the treasurer and the head of fundraising for the United States Institute of Theatre Technology (USITT) student chapter at Oklahoma City University. She is also the co-founder of Koop Designs, a T-shirt company that designs and sells shirts for not only Oklahoma City University but also professional theatres in the Oklahoma City area. We're so proud of our DHFLA extended family!

DHFLA at the

Chili Cookoff

DHFLA's chili was a spicy success at the 18th annual kosher chili cookoff. Under the skilled direction of chef Jimmy Wilson, our chili was admired by all who saddled up for a tasting. We couldn't have done it without the help of Jimmy Wilson, his wife Kathyrn and children Adayah, Naaryah, Tzidkiah, and Yoshiah, as well as our many volunteers!
